Constantinople, August 8.

The Plague, which had encreased to an alarming Degree about a Fortnight ago, is at present greatly diminished. This favourable Change is probably owing to the warm Weather which has prevailed here since Eight or Ten Days. The last Letters from Smirna advise the total Cessation of the Plague in that City, and it's Neighbourhood, which continued free from every Appearance of Disorder.

Naples, August 24.

On Thursday Night last his Sicilian Majesty set out from Naples for Barletta. The Queen, in Company with the newly married Princesses, left this City the next Evening, and arrived at Barletta in Twenty-one Hours, not having stopped on the Road. Immediately after the Queen's Arrival his Sicilian Majesty embarked on Board of one of his Frigates, and the Queen and Princesses on Board of another, and set Sail with a favorable Wind for Fiume.

Stockholm, August 31.

The King of Sweden arrived at his Country-Seat of Haga, in the Neighbourhood of this City, the 26th Instant; and Yesterday made his publick Entry into Stockholm, on Horseback, amidst the Acclamations of a great Concourse of People, who had assembled in the Streets through which he was to pass. His Majesty was accompanied by such of the Officers who have distinguished themselves during the late Campaign, as were already arrived from Finland, and was escorted by the City Guards, who have performed the Military Service of the Capital since the Commencement of Hostilities against Russia.

His Majesty first went to the Cathedral Church; and, after having performed his Devotions there, repaired to the Town-Hall, where he, in a very gracious Speech, thanked the Burgesses assembled for the Marks of Loyalty and Attachment he has received from them during the War. In the Evening there was a Drawing-Room, where the Foreign Ministers had an Opportunity of paying their Court to his Majesty.

To-day Peace was proclaimed with the usual Solemnities in the different Quarters of the City. The Royal Family, the Nobility, and other Persons of Distinction, assisted at the Te Deum, which was sung with great Pomp at the Cathedral; after which there was a Court and Public Dinner at the Palace; and the Evening is to close with Illuminations and other Demonstrations of Joy.

Vienna, September 1.

News has been just now received of the safe Arrival of their Sicilian Majesties at Fiume on the 28th of August.
